3. Informational Report by the President of the University

11:15 a.m. -

In May 2009, the Board of Trustees approved a five year strategic plan as set forth in the "Priorities for Excellence: The Penn State Strategic Plan, 2009-10 through 2013-14." The plan builds on the theme of prioritization for excellence, offering strategies for each of seven goals. Achieving these goals requires collaboration among administrators, faculty, staff, and students from academic and administrative units across Penn State and making difficult choices regarding future programming. The goals are as follows:

- Enhance student success;
- Advance academic excellence and research prominence;
- Realize Penn State's potential as a global university;
- Maintain access and affordability and enhance diversity;
- Serve the people of the Commonwealth and beyond;
- Use technology to expand access and opportunities; and
- Control costs and generate additional efficiencies.

Dr. Rodney A. Erickson, Executive Vice President and Provost of the University, will provide an update on the second-year implementation progress of the "Priorities for Excellence," focusing particular attention on the work of the Core Council that was charged to undertake analyses of academic programs and administrative services to find greater efficiencies while enhancing University excellence in an era of increasing financial challenges.

2) Proposal to Merge the Department of Counselor Education, Counseling Psychology and Rehabilitation Services (CECPR) and Educational and School Psychology and Special Education (ESPSE) in the College of Education

The College of Education seeks to merge two of its departments: Counselor Education, Counseling Psychology and Rehabilitation Services (CECPR) and Educational and School Psychology and Special Education (ESPSE) in the College of Education. This will be accomplished under a new department that will be named Educational Psychology, Counseling, and Special Education. The new department will serve the needs of undergraduate students in part through the continued delivery of service courses that constitute an important component of teacher preparation programs in the College of Education and elsewhere in the University. In addition, the new department will house the continuing undergraduate major in Rehabilitation and Human Services. The new department will contain continuing graduate programs in Educational Psychology, School Psychology, Counselor Education, and Special Education.

The Academic Program and Administrative Services Review Core Council has recommended that CECPR and ESPSE be merged in order to better align the College with University priorities.

Maintaining sight of current University efforts to manage scarce resources, the following priorities have been identified:

- Better alignment with University priorities to foster collaboration, and to realize savings
- Savings in terms of administrative services and streamlining of staff positions
- Greater collaboration across programs which will lead to long term efficiencies
- Additional faculty attrition over time in conjunction with strategic planning to achieve additional savings

The proposal for the merging of the two departments was favorably reviewed by the Academic Council on Graduate Education (ACGE); the Dean of the College of Education; and was endorsed by the University Faculty Senate Council.

Will the Committee on Educational Policy recommend to the Board of Trustees adoption of the following resolution:

RESOLVED, that the Board of Trustees approves combining the Department of Counselor Education, Counseling Psychology, and Rehabilitation Services (CECPR) with the Department of Educational and School Psychology and Special Education (ESPSE) to form a new Department of Educational Psychology, Counseling, and Special Education in the College of Education, effective July 1, 2011.

3) Proposal to Discontinue the Science, Technology, and Society Program

The Science, Technology, and Society (STS) Program has been jointly administered in recent years by the Colleges of Engineering and Liberal Arts. At its inception about 40 years ago, the program was important in bringing together scientists with those who study about science in an era when interdisciplinary approaches were unusual. The program has been important historically to College of Engineering students because of its General Education offerings. STS has contributed to the College of the Liberal Arts by bringing together in an academic home several faculty primarily in the humanities and other areas whose work complements disciplinary work but does not fit neatly into other departments.

The STS program offers no major and its three minors are very small, having a total of less than 30 students. The Academic Program and Administrative Services Review Core Council, with its mandate to improve cost effectiveness, has recommended that STS be discontinued. The STS program teaches only about 3,000 student credit hours annually. Although the faculty are contributing, the program's impact on students is far less than other degree granting programs in either Engineering or Liberal Arts.

Some of the STS courses and the STS minor will be discontinued; other courses taught by participating faculty who are tenured in various academic departments will continue to be offered by the faculty members' home departments where many of these courses are already cross-listed. Two other minors, the Bioethics and Medical Humanities minor and the Disability Studies minor, will be relocated to other units within the College of the Liberal Arts.

Six faculty with partial STS appointments who hold tenure in other units will move entirely to their home departments; five untenured (provisional) faculty will receive termination notices; and the contracts of all fixed-term faculty will be honored through their current terms. It is proposed to discontinue the STS program effective June 30, 2012. Faculty will continue to teach most STS courses during 2011-12 so that current students may complete their minors. The Colleges will continue to work to help untenured and multi-year fixed-term faculty find other positions.

The proposal for the discontinuation of the Science, Technology, and Society Program was favorably reviewed by the deans of Engineering and Liberal Arts. It was not reviewed favorably by the University Faculty Senate Council on the basis that appropriate consultation with the program faculty did not occur prior to notification of untenured faculty concerning plans to terminate the program.

Will the Committee on Educational Policy recommend to the Board of Trustees adoption of the following resolution:

RESOLVED, That the Board of Trustees approves the discontinuation of the Science, Technology, and Society Program effective June 30, 2012.

2) Consideration of Proposed Interim Maintenance and Operating Budget for the University for the Fiscal Year Beginning July 1, 2011

In order for the University to have an approved fiscal operating plan for the year beginning July 1, 2011, it is proposed that an interim budget be adopted.

Due to the pending status of the State appropriation, it is recommended that no action be taken at this time on changes in tuition, salaries and wages, employee benefits, or other necessary expense increases. A final budget will be submitted at the July 14-15, 2011 Board of Trustees meeting when the State appropriation is clarified.

Will the Committee on Finance and Physical Plant recommend to the Board of Trustees adoption of the following resolution:

   RESOLVED, That pending adoption of a new budget to reflect clarification of the amount and form of the State appropriation, and subsequent decision regarding the amount of tuition charges, adjustments to salaries, wages, and employee benefits, and provisions for fuel and utilities and other cost increases, the Board of Trustees approves continuation for the interim period beginning July 1, 2011, total budget amounts at the level of the adjusted 2010-11 budget as follows:

8. Proposed Establishment of a Governance Advisory Group and Approval of Revised Standing Orders

It is proposed to amend the Standing Orders to reflect the establishment of a Governance Advisory Group. The group, which is strictly advisory in nature, shall include representatives from all constituent groups appointed or elected to the board. The group's purpose is to provide counsel and advice to the president of the board in matters concerning the development of strategies, policies, and practices that orient, educate, organize, motivate, and assess the performance of trustees. It is also proposed that the group assume such additional responsibilities as may from time to time be assigned by the Board's leadership with the approval of the full Board including, but not limited to:

- recommending to the Board candidates for election to membership on the Executive Committee; and
- reviewing the service of a Trustee upon retirement. The group may recommend to the Board that emeritus/a status be awarded to the retired trustee. Criteria to be considered by the group shall include offices held, attendance record, participation in the activities of the Board, length of service, or other significant contributions.

The group shall regularly inform the Board of its practices and priorities.

As the proposed Governance Advisory Group will assume those responsibilities previously performed by the Nominating Committee, the proposed changes to the Standing Orders reflect the discontinuation of the Nominating Committee.

Will the Board of Trustees adopt the following resolution:

RESOLVED, That the changes to the Standing Orders of the Board of Trustees of The Pennsylvania State University, as reflected in Appendix IV, are approved.

(See Appendix IV)

9. Annual Report and Proposed Appointment of Members, Board of Directors of The Milton S. Hershey Medical Center

Harold L. Paz, M.D., Senior Vice President for Health Affairs of The Pennsylvania State University, Dean, College of Medicine, and Chief Executive Officer, will provide an update on The Milton S. Hershey Medical Center.

In May 2000, the Board of Trustees approved the establishment of the corporation "The Milton S. Hershey Medical Center," a Pennsylvania nonprofit corporation for the purpose of employing personnel, owning equipment, and holding the hospital and other licenses necessary to provide healthcare services. The Board further confirmed that the University will continue to fulfill its obligations as Successor Trustee of The Milton S. Hershey Medical Center through establishment of the corporation to operate the clinical enterprise and make the necessary appointments to the Board of Directors.

The Board of Directors of The Milton S. Hershey Medical Center consists of 15 members. Nine directors are appointed directly by the Board of Trustees with three-year, staggered terms; two are ex officio directors: the Senior Vice President for Health Affairs of The Pennsylvania State University, Dean of the College of Medicine, and Chief Executive Officer; and one director is elected from among the clinical department chairs at The Milton S. Hershey Medical Center. The remaining four directors are considered independent directors, with three-year, staggered terms, and are self-perpetuating. Together, these 15 directors are responsible for governance of The Milton S. Hershey

2. Information on Graduate Programs

A. Master of Science in Community and Economic Development in the College of Agricultural Sciences: Drop of Program

The proposal to drop the Master of Science in Community and Economic Development in the College of Agricultural Sciences was approved by the Graduate Council at its February 16, 2011 meeting.

The Master of Science in Community and Economic Development program has been replaced by the online Master of Professional Studies degree in Community and Economic Development. The Master of Science degree in Community and Economic Development was a blended program, with some required courses offered only online, and the balance offered in-residence at the University Park campus. The costs of completing the blended program were too high financially and personally for many actual and potential students. Support for this assessment of the blended Master of Science program is provided in the success of the totally online Master of Professional Studies in Community...

and Economic Development which now, after three years in existence, has just over 100 students active in the program.

B. Master of Engineering in Oil and Gas Engineering Management in the College of Earth and Mineral Sciences via World Campus: Drop of Program

The proposal to drop the Master of Engineering in Oil and Gas Engineering Management in the College of Earth and Mineral Sciences via World Campus was approved by the Graduate Council at its February 16, 2011 meeting.

Due to low enrollment and interest, the program will be dropped as there does not appear to be strong demand in the foreseeable future of the degree to ensure acceptable return on future investments in the program especially given the current budgetary constraints.

C. Master of Education in Educational Leadership, Teacher Learning Option in the College of Education: Program Requirements Change

The proposal to change the program requirements for the Master of Education in Educational Leadership, Teacher Learning Option in the College of Education was approved by the Graduate Council at its February 16, 2011 meeting.

Teacher leadership as a concept was still in its infancy in 2002 [when the option first was created, as an offering in the Department of Curriculum and Instruction]. Since then, the rise of the standards and accountability movement and more specifically, the No Child Left Behind (NCLB) legislation, have changed forever the educational landscape. Today, the leadership of teachers is acknowledged as a vibrant and essential feature of any significant and sustainable school improvement effort. Thus, a committee of both expert practitioners and scholars from across departments in the College of Education was formed to examine what changes and revisions needed to be made to the Teacher Leadership Option to reinvigorate the program.

[The following agenda item was presented to the Trustees as a yellow sheet item at the meeting of the Committee on Educational Policy.]

Dual-Title Ph.D. Program and a Dual-Title M.S. Degree Program in International Agriculture and Development (INTAD) in the College of Agricultural Sciences: New Programs

The proposals to create a dual-title Ph.D. degree program and a dual-title M.S. degree program in International Agriculture and Development (INTAD) offered by the College of Agricultural Sciences and proposals to adopt both dual-title degree programs by the Department of Agricultural and Extension Education, the graduate program in Agricultural, Environmental and Regional Economics, the graduate program in Rural Sociology, and the Department of Entomology, were approved by the Graduate Council at its March 16, 2011 meeting.

These programs were launched to provide adequate preparation for the complex, multidisciplinary nature of international agricultural development to graduate level education students in agriculture. More specifically, these programs will provide opportunities for students to attain a more advanced skill set that will enable them to apply expertise to critical issues such as food security and international agricultural development. Additionally, the programs will provide students with instruction which will enable them to develop, and successfully apply, scientific solutions to problems.

INTAD joins a constellation of dual degree programs at Penn State that offer students an opportunity to take their discipline interests into the international arena. INTAD is unique in its combination of study opportunities in agricultural and development disciplines as well as the context and application of those disciplines.

Annual Report of the Activities of the University Faculty Senate 2010-2011

by Jean Landa Pytel, Chair

The University Faculty Senate has had a very productive year thanks to the work of the Senate's committee leadership, Senate officers, and the staff of the Senate office, led by Executive Director, Susan Youtz. Members of the Faculty Senate and the Senate office have worked hard and remain committed to helping the University manage these financially challenging times and to emerge as a stronger world-class academic and research University, true to its land-grant mission.

In addition to numerous mandated informational reports, the Faculty Senate received other informational reports on topics that pertained to ongoing concerns, issues, and developments. The Senate and the Senate office continued its ongoing work with the University curriculum and student petitions. The following describes the accomplishments of the Senate office and the 2010-2011 University Faculty Senate:

• Eliminated approximately 600 undergraduate course numbers for courses that have not been offered for at least 5 years. Work is progressing, in collaboration with the Graduate Council, to eliminate approximately 700 graduate course numbers that have also not been offered for at least 5 years.
• Updated duties of the Faculty Athletics Representative (Standing Rules, Article III, Section 8(a)).
• Modified the requirements for a minor by adding that requirements for a minor may be completed at any campus offering the courses specified for the minor (Senate Policy 59-00).
• Received an informational report on issues related to textbooks and course materials that will provide a backdrop for future possible policy changes that relate to faculty textbook publications and course materials.
• Revised the eligibility rules for athletes competing at NCAA Division III campuses and in the PSU Athletic Conference (PSUAC) to enable changes after the beginning of a semester (Senate Policy 67-00).
• Approved revisions to Policy HR64, Academic Freedom.
• Received reports about activities related to abuse of alcohol and held a forensic session to discuss the role of faculty in mitigating the problems associated with abuse of drugs and alcohol.
• Monitored the effectiveness of online student ratings of teaching effectiveness (SRTE) to ensure that faculty members would not be disadvantaged in considerations for tenure and promotion as a result of decreased response rates.
• Received a report about the Energy Innovation Hub to inform faculty of potential collaborations.
• Combined the Senate Committees on Libraries and Computing and Information Systems into one Committee on Libraries, Information Systems, and Technology. In addition to having the responsibilities of the pre-existing committees, the new committee will also be responsible for such issues as courseware, media services, and electronic classrooms.
• Adopted a new Senate representation model (Senate Constitution, Article II, Section 4) to reduce the size of the Faculty Senate to 200 elected Faculty Senators. The new model will maintain the number of elected Faculty Senators at about 200, regardless of the number of faculty members throughout the University. It also imposes a limit on the number of Senators from any one unit to no more than 15 percent of the elected faculty senators.
• Revised the policies pertaining to the time allowed to resolve deferred (DF) and no grade (NG) issues (Senate Policies 48-40 and 48-50).
• Established a new standing committee, the Senate Committee on Global Programs. This committee will work with relevant University offices and academic units in the development and review of guidelines for courses and programs delivered abroad and for programs delivered on campus for international students.

At its last meeting of the Senate year on April 28, 2011 (after the writing of this report) the University Faculty Senate considered the following:

• Revising Policy HR76, Faculty Rights and Responsibilities, to bring the policy into agreement with practice as it relates to issues of affirmative action.
• Approving a statement of Core Principles on Instructional Intellectual Property at Penn State. These principles will form the basis for any future changes or additions to University policies that relate to Instructional Intellectual Property.
• Approving revisions to Policy HR29, Voluntary Phased Retirement Program related to faculty and staff members in the TIAA-CREF retirement program.

(4) Governance Advisory Group: The President of the Board is directed to appoint a governance advisory group, strictly advisory in nature, including representatives from all constituent groups appointed or elected to the Board of Trustees, for the purpose of providing counsel and advice to the President of the Board in matters concerning the development of strategies, policies, and practices that orient, educate, organize, motivate, and assess the performance of trustees. The group shall assume such additional responsibilities as may from time to time be assigned by the Board's leadership with the approval of the full Board including, but not limited to:
